FIVE CONTINENT WAR

Never before has a war been fought in five continents at once. The present struggle began, of course, in Europe, and soon spread to Asia and Africa. Australia and the neighboring islands, part of Oceanica, have suffered bombing raids, and in some cases invasion. Lately has come the Japanese landing on the Aleutian island of Attu. This, lying east of the international date-line, ranks as part of North America and not of Asia. For good measure, throw in the submarine sinkings in the St. Lawrence river and the "token" shelling of the Oregon WASHINGTON — King Peter II and British Columbia coasts.

CONVOYS ALONG COAST

Official announcement is made at Washington that American warships have been convoying merchant shipping along the East Coast from Maine to Florida for about a month.

It is welcome assurance that at last the Axis submarine men- pessimism existent in some quarace is to be met head-on, that merchant ships are not proceeding through ters. these dangerous waters without protection.

That this protection is still far from adequate is shown in the wards, member of parliament pargrim figures for sinkings from June 3 to 15. The convoy system is the most effective method thus far devised to protect ships exposed to undersea attack. This cannot mean, of course, that East Coast sinkings will cease. It can mean that Axis submarines will operate at far greater hazard and cost. If, as Defense Transportation Director Eastman suggests, oil tankers are available in sufficient numbers to be put back into service on coastwise runs, the serious fuel oil shortage can be rendered less acute.

This will all depend on how effective East Coast convoys prove to be, which in turn will depend on the number and types of warcraft available for this dangerous and vital assignment.

The Parent Problem By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

GETTING BABY USED TO SUN

Gradually parents are learning the value of sunshine. Accordingly some are beginning to allow their babies to expose a goodly portion of their bodies to its rays. Even some aged women, who once hid behind big sunbonnets, now are basking in the sunlight.

Unfortunately the sunshine is not wholly free to all. Many thousand children in the crowded cities can get it only from the blistering sidewalks. Their parents may not have the money to transport them to the open places. Some day the public conscience will awaken to provide sunshine opportunities for

This will take time and education. Relatively few parents who is easily available and free, let their children have it. Think of the children on the farm, for instance. The average rural child under six gets less sunlight on his body than the

GONE WHERE ALL BAD SUBS GO

Soldier Seeks Cover in Libya

An idea of the fighting going on in the African desert can be gained from this photo of a British soldier scrambling for what little cover he can get behind the remains of a wrecked car. A Nazi dive bomber has just passed overhead after dropping part of its death load. Axis forces have already swept past Sidi Barrani in Egypt, the high water mark of the Italian offensive in 1940.

In one of the first photos to be radioed from Cairo direct to the United States a British tank calvos United States, a British tank salvage crew is pictured above working under fire in the Libyan desert. The salvage crew spots the disabled tank, top, and starts to remove it to a repair cente. Orman artillerymen sight them and open fire, center. As the Nazis at the range, a shell bursts close, lower photo, driving the crew to cover.

WAR DAMAGE INSURANCE

Regular Fire Insurance Policies Do Not Cover War Damage

MAYBE you don't know it, but immediately after the assault on Pearl Harbor, Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones announced that war damage

. . that is, damage caused by enemy action or resistance to enemy action . . . would be paid for by your Government.

This was a temporary measure and will terminate at midnight, June 20th.

Beginning July 1st, you will be required to pay the cost of repairing damage to your own property caused by war action, just as you are now required to pay for repairing the damage caused by an ordinary fire or other destructive force. BUT . . .

YOU NOW CAN INSURE against such damage in much the same manner as you insure against fire, and for a surprisingly moderate premium. This War Damage Insurance has been worked out by the leading fire insurance companies in co-operation with the War Damage Corporation.

It may be applied to dwellings, household goods, personal effects, factories, stores, stocks of merchandise, farm property, apartments, automobiles to just about anything . . . You may insure your dwelling and contents for $1 per thousand of insurance for 1 year. Rates on other classes of property are from $1 to $3 per thousand. All policies subject to $3.00 minimum premium.

The National Association of Insurance Agents, of which the New Castle Association of Insurance Agents is a member, has volunteered the services of its members in effecting the distribution of this War Damage Insurance on a cost of service (no profit) basis in order to contribute to the War effort and avoid the expense of a new government agency. Thus, to secure this new War Damage Insurance, all you need to do is to contact immediately any member of the New Castle Association of Insurance Agents listed here. Your own insurance agent should be among them

There isn't much time left to arrange for this War Damage Insurance, which is available only on a cashwith-order basis with signed application. Get in touch with one of these Association members immediately by personal call or telephone.

Prompt co-operation will protect your property.

It's ASILLY QUESTION, true, but it brings out an important point. Now that we are at war, birth certificates are mighty important documents. They should be kept in a well-protected place-and we mean a Safe Deposit box in our vault. Other important papers should be kept there too. The cost is far less than you probably think. Don't put this off.
